An Appeal to the Shopping Public of Montreal

EVERY YEAR as the Christmas Shopping Season approaches the merchants of Montreal send out their annual appeal to their clients to shop early. The motive behind this is not entirely selfish. During the month of November the principal markets of the world are sending in to the Port of Montreal shiploads of merchandise from London, Paris, Switzerland, New York, etc. The November shoppers, in addition to getting the pick of these beautiful goods, receive better service and quicker delivery. Therefore, we urge you in your own interests particularly and the merchants generally to SHOP EARLY, early in the month and early in the day.

The Wise Buyers this year will do their Christmas Shopping in November.

National Fish Day

And the Anniversary of the Armistice

BE sure to enter the spirit of this Feast right now.

Fish as a Food is the only substitute to butcher's meat, which is alarmingly becoming scarce.

Fish as a Food will bridge the gulf of the scarcity of butcher's meat in future.

Fish as a Food is substantial, economical, sensible and recommended.

Sooner or later, we will have to feed on Fish. Why not start now?

Why not start on NATIONAL FISH DAY?

Do not put it off any longer, but try it now. In doing it you will help yourself and your country.

Do not overlook the fact that CANADA'S Fisheries are our best asset.

COMMERCIAL SOCIETY HAS BIG MEETING

Dean Moyse and Mr. Sugars
Address Students.

PAPER READ.

New Idea For Programmes
To Be Tried This Season.

The second general meeting of the Commercial Society was held last evening in the Union. The meeting was very largely attended, nearly the whole school of Commerce being present. The chairman brought the meeting to order at 8 p.m. and introduced the speakers for the evening.

Dean Moyse, the first speaker, opened his remarks by saying that Commerce was a distinct part of the University. He outlined the history of the School and on the difficulties experienced in putting it on a strong basis. When it was decided to put an experienced man in charge, Mr. Sugars was chosen. The School of Commerce provides a distinctly different course from an ordinary business college. The need for a University business course is felt a great deal more than previously, as the world is thinking differently to what it did in pre-war days. A topic such as the distribution of wealth is now placed before the public eye more than ever before.

The Dean then went on to say that the chief aim of the University was to turn out men capable of carrying out successfully whatever they might undertake. That the work be honest, is the basis of all personal success. The student with the trained mind can undertake anything, and although the subject may at first be alien to him, his trained mind can soon grasp the essential facts.

The Dean then closed his remarks by wishing all the students of the School of Commerce every success.

The next item on the programme was a paper by Mr. W. Shapiro on "The benefits of a College Commercial Training." This was a very excellent paper, and showed what a College Commercial Training at McGill could do.

Mr. Sugars, the next speaker of the evening, gave a short address, in which he promised to support the society and help it out whenever he could.

A new idea of a literary nature was discussed for the future programmes of the Society. This was to empower the chairman to call upon any member of the Society.

RETURNED MEN IN SCIENCE TO MEET

Discussion Of Plans and
Election Of Rep. For College Association.

A regular meeting of the Returned Men's Association of the Faculty of Applied Science will be held on Thursday, November 13th, in Room 33, of the Engineering Building.

The business of the meeting will be the election of a representative to the Returned Men's Association of McGill.

During the last session the returned men of the Faculty of Applied Science formed an association. The object of the society is to promote a more intimate acquaintance between the returned men of the different classes.

Last Spring a smoker was held at the Union. The Returned Men's Society was invited and a successful evening resulted. The B. W. and F. Club gave generous assistance to the entertainment. This year the association intends to hold similar functions, and it is hoped that all returned men in Science will attend.

All undergraduate students in the Faculty of Applied Science who have been active service, during the Great War, in any theatre of war either in the army or in the navy are eligible for membership. Those who have not enrolled are requested to do so at the next meeting, or if unable to attend they may give their names to Lawrence Mahaffy, the secretary of the Association. The membership fee is fifty cents per annum.

The society has the hearty support of the Faculty and has as its honorary president, Dr. J. B. Porter, who has done so much for the returned men in Science.

It is expected that all the returned men of Science will be present at this next meeting, as the policy and future activities of the association will be discussed.

N'FD'LANDERS MEET.

Sir George Foster May Speak
At First Meeting Of
Canadian Club.

One of the most interesting sidelights on the cosmopolitan spirit so evident at McGill this year, is to be found in the number of what might be called "territorial" clubs which are being formed, with the object of giving students who come from the same locality an opportunity of getting together on a common ground, regardless of the distinctions of faculty or class. Clubs have already sprung into existence formed from residents of such widely-separated points as Vancouver and Newfoundland, and no doubt there will be further additions to the number, in the near future. There is a perennial appeal to a man's "clannishness" in these clubs, restricted, as it were, to "his own folk," but there are some who urge that their results are inimical to the feeling of unity in the student body and tend ultimately to the formation of numerous small sets or "cliques."

There is no reason why this should be so. It would, indeed, be difficult of proof that, because a man showed a natural tendency to fraternize with others from his own part of the world, he should for that reason be found guilty of disloyalty to, or disinterest in the welfare of the student body as a whole. On the contrary these clubs, if they properly fulfil their function should afford a meeting-place for students who might otherwise have no opportunity to meet with each other, and such intercourse of itself cannot fail to foster and encourage college spirit in the truest sense of the word.

Newfoundlanders' Club.

The meeting of Newfoundlanders was held last night for the purpose of approving of the Constitution proposed for their Club.

After an interesting discussion the Constitution was passed with several amendments and a committee appointed to submit it to the Students' Council for their approval.

The date of next meeting, which will probably take place within a fortnight, will be announced as usual in the "Daily."

Maritime Club.

At a meeting of the Executive of the Maritime Club last night, it was decided to hold a Smoker on Thursday night, 13th, this week, at the Union, for the Maritime Club, at 9 o'clock.

An excellent programme is being arranged, and further particulars will be announced in a subsequent issue of the "Daily."

Canadian Club.

A tentative programme, calling for a meeting every two weeks, has been drawn up by the newly elected Executive of the Canadian Club. It is hoped that the speaker at the first meeting will be Sir George Foster, but it will be a week or so before definite announcement can be made with regard to the speakers and dates of meetings.

TWO DEBATES DELIVERED AT LIT. MEETING

Law and Arts Men Hold
Forth.

INTERESTED AUDIENCE

Live Topics Discussed By
Members Present—Augurs
Well For Future.

The second meeting of the "Lit." held last evening, was even a greater success than the last. Two separate debates were held in different rooms, one between Law '20 and Law '21, and the other between Arts '20 and Arts '21.

All the speakers of the evening showed high ability both in their logical arguments and in their polished delivery, and the arguments they advanced were followed with keen interest by both audiences. In each case much discussion followed the conclusion of the debates, and altogether the interest shown came up to the full expectations of the "Lit." executive.

The debate between Law '20 and Law '21 was held in the Assembly Hall. Farthing, the president of the "Lit.", presided. Mr. Hughson very kindly acted as judge. The question debated was, "Resolved that the purchase of the Grand Trunk Railway, as proposed by the Government of Canada, is in the best interests of the Canadian people." Messrs. McCaffrey and Mirovitch, Law '21, spoke for the affirmative. Messrs. Cavanaugh and Biggar handled the case for the negative.

Mr. McCaffrey, in introducing the subject, reviewed the history of the Grand Trunk Railway. He alluded to its having been laid down wrongly, and under difficulties. He gave a mass of figures to show that the Government would not lose by the deal. In twenty years, he said, a net-void of railways across Canada will divide control of transportation between the Government and C.P.R. He argued that there will be enough traffic for both. If the Government does not take over the G.T.R. all the money it has already paid out to the system will be lost.

Mr. Cavanaugh said that the G.T.R. deal may be a bargain, but a bargain at a time when the country cannot even afford a gratuity to its returned men is a luxury. Under government control still expenditure will be increased. The Union Government was elected to win the war, not to run railways! A bill crammed through at the last minute of a moribund parliament (Continued on page 3.)

THIRD TEAM WORK HARD AT STADIUM

Good Line-Up For Game At Macdonald Wednesday.

The Third team held a fast practice yesterday afternoon at the Stadium. Shag put the men through a fast signal drill for about half an hour and then gave them some new trick plays. The team is in good condition for its next game with Macdonald at Ste. Anne on Wednesday and for the championship game to be played in the near future. They will be without the services of Wilson and Jones who have gone to the Internationals but have secured good men to fill their places. The probable line-up on Wednesday will be:—

Outside wings—Ballantyne and Brown. Middle wings—Armstrong and Mathewson (Capt.). Inside wings—Robinson and Munro. Scrimmage—Johnson, Reid and Evans. Quarter—Quinlan. Halves—Hamilton, Salter and Falconer. Flying wing—Taylor. Spares—Maclean, Puddicombe and Davis.

MCGILL GRADUATE AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP.

Dean Moyse has just received the following item of news from Harvard which will be of interest to McGill men.

Mr. Ira Delworth, who graduated in 1915 at McGill with First Rank Honors in English and French, has been awarded an Austin Scholarship of $300.00 by Harvard University, which he has recently entered for post-graduate work.

Well Done, Arts!

Yesterday the Victory Loan returns in the University showed a considerable increase, the Faculty of Arts having augmented their previous total by the large amount of $25,000, making $37,600 subscribed by them alone. Although the other Faculties do not come near this amount individually, almost $50,000 has been subscribed by the University as a whole up to date.

Such a satisfactory increase reflects great credit on the patriotism (to say nothing of the affluence) of Arts men, and it is significant as showing their evident appreciation of the expediency and urgency of helping to make the present loan as great a success as possible.

To anyone with the slightest knowledge of national finance or economics, it must be abundantly clear that, if Canada is to obtain and hold her rightful place in the world's markets, she must have at her disposal sufficient capital to enable her to grant large credits to her prospective customers, particularly the late belligerents, who now find themselves alike with empty store-houses and coffers. Canadian business men, realizing that Opportunity is assuredly knocking at Canada's door, have given their unqualified support to the loan, and these hold stoutly to their opinions that if the country will only take advantage of the favorable tide in her affairs, it will undoubtedly "lead on to fortune."

We are repeatedly being told that we are on the brink of a new era, both social and economic, an era, moreover, which will be fraught with the most momentous changes in the texture of our everyday life. Whether this be so or not it must be patent to all that Canada is confronted to-day with a wonderful chance to establish herself as one of the great commercial nations of the world. In such a case, not the least important of the elements to be benefitted by an era of prosperity would be our educational institutions, for it is a matter of common experience, that commerce has ever been the foster-parent of the Arts and Sciences.

It is only fitting, then, that the great educational institutions, such as McGill should give a strong lead towards assuring the success of this loan. Not only does it show that the academic spirit of the country is entirely in accord with this praiseworthy attempt to establish Canadian trade and Canadian prestige, but in the final analysis it will be found that there exists a strong element of ultimate self-interest. If Canada's future is dependent upon the proper preparation and equipment of the generation which is to follow, no less will her material prosperity be responsible for the perfection and efficiency of her educational machinery. College men as a whole, therefore as representatives of higher education, should feel a particularly keen interest in the opportunity thus afforded, and we look forward with confidence to hearing of even larger contributions from McGill men towards this end.

INDOOR ATHLETICS IN FULL SWING

Basketball and Baseball Games Played in Bush Leagues.

Macdonald is doing famously in her bush leagues. Basketball and baseball are now in full swing, and interest is at the highest point in the various games. A list of weirdly-named baseball nines was published last week. To-day it is our painful task to publish the periphrastics of a wit of unknown quantity. The varied range of these names leads us to believe that someone has a bright future in store for him. So here goes: — Night Hawks, Early Birds, Red Tops, Gingersnaps, Wild Cats, Triple Hounds, Highballs, Cocktails, Clovers, Alfalfa, Black Devils, White Elephants, Fuzzies, Hugs-Me-Tighs, Smooth Guys and Rough Necks. If the various teams possess the characteristic qualities suggested by these names we may look for some lively times this winter.

For instance, when the Red Tops

played the Gingersnaps last night there were sparks flying around the gym. The peppy gingersnaps were right on the spot, and on time, but the slow necessary to hear the Red Tops was lacking, and therefore only three of their men turned up. However, substitutes were provided and the two teams proceeded to prove the relative merits of russet vs. crimson. The game was indeed fast and furious, indeed more furious than fast. But, all things considered the game was a good one. It was characterized by many brilliant flashes of play, more fouls, and most poor combinations. Indeed, aside from the fact that playing was wild, it was creditable to both teams. The teams were very well matched, keeping the issue in doubt up to the last minute. Sutherland for the Red Tops, and Bowen for the Gingersnaps, played the best game of the afternoon. Peterson was well fed by his teammates and scored most of the points for the Gingersnaps. The game was tied when only a minute was left; play then Uncle Sutherland scored the winning basket for Red Tops. Final score, 15-13.

Baseball holds its own alongside Basketball in our fair college. The bush league is burning its trail in the

MAC. NOW HAS ITS QUOTA OF GRINDS

Students Urged To Be All Round Men.

MISTAKEN IDEAS.

Future Efficiency Depends On All Round Development.

"O would some power the gift give us To see ourselves as others see us,"

So said Robbie Burns a good many years ago, and the principle embodied in the words of the poet holds to-day as truly as it ever did. It is a very interesting and valuable exercise to observe the types of men and women with which we are surrounded; and it is equally valuable that we should learn the observations which are made about us by other people, for in ascertaining these opinions we may see wherein lies our strength or our weakness. Public opinion has always been, and still continues to be, one of the strongest forces in the varied interests and phases of this old life of ours; and we all to some extent bow to its dictates.

Macdonald College has its types, to one or another of which we all belong; and because these types exist we all have different ideas of the purpose and aim of a college course. To one type of student a college course means solely the accumulation of knowledge. He comes to college, and immediately sets to work to learn all there is to know about his particular branch of study in order that he may revolutionize that phase of learning or endeavor. The morning sees him at his books; the afternoon and evening witness his unceasing toil; and only sleep sees a temporary cessation of the struggle. He eats and sleeps and at these periods receives grudging relaxation; but in between is the same old grind—day in, day out, from one month to another. He sees nothing beyond the cramped wall of his own individual aim. To him the various college activities mean nothing; he views them from afar off as matters that do not concern him at all. Ask him to write an article for the "Daily"—"No; I haven't the time." Ask him to take part in some form of athletics—"I don't see any use in such waste of energy," etc., etc. We have all come in contact with this type. He keeps this up for four years and graduates a ball of knowledge so wrapped up in himself that he is about as approachable as the proverbial porcupine.

The student of this type makes his first big mistake in the erroneous conception he has of a course at college. We have said that his idea is solely to accumulate knowledge. True, this is the main reason why most of us are here; but it should not be our only reason. The real aim of a college course is to train men for leadership in the several branches which they have chosen to study; and also to teach them to think for themselves. These ends can not be attained by a student if he envelops himself in his studies to the exclusion of all other considerations. He must take part in discussions with his fellow-students in order to broaden his views; and he must mix with them freely and take a part in activities common to all, so as to have a few of the angularities rubbed from his character. There are many means at his disposal to accomplish this "rounding off" process. He can develop the physical side of his being by participation in one or more of the many branches of athletics; he may develop his mind more fully by taking part in the activities of the Lit. or the Mag.; and he may develop the cultural side of his nature, among other means, by reading and by intelligent observation of the beauties which surround him.

This is a feeble attempt at pointing out the great mistake of becoming a "grind." But so many fellows come to college and sink into a rut from which they find it almost impossible to extricate themselves, with the result that they leave college with a character only partially developed, and find themselves handicapped in later life from attaining the highest point of efficiency. How many "grinds" have we at Macdonald.

Before leaving the banquet chamber each girl was presented with a pretty little souvenir, in the form of an autograph card, and now, after drinking a last up of hot cocoa, the party broke up.

CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY

A General Holiday Including Big Dance at Night.

The Prince little realized the joy he was bringing to us all when he asked that we be given a holiday. Girls longing to visit the city or home are eagerly availing themselves of this opportunity. Everywhere one hears the questions: "Are you going to the city on Tuesday?" "Yes, are you?" "No, I'm having some friends out here." True it is not long till Saturday when we will be free to do as we please, but then, what of the added charm in a week-day holiday? Is it not much sweeter to most of us to escape lectures for a whole day; to have Saturday twice in one week—as it were? If you say no, you either are not well acquainted with the feelings of most girls, or you are not human. Besides, with a dance looming in view, Tuesday night, this is a most opportune time for a holiday.

The lecture rooms Monday were gay with the bright smiles of girls dreamily thinking of Tuesday's holiday, Tuesday night's dance, and oblivious to everything else. They see the holiday in the right light and we're inclined to believe the lecturers are too. After all, a holiday is a holiday to everyone.

The big day will start with a splash of activity especially in the way of sports. During the morning the Juniors will have baseball and basketball practice in preparation for the big series with the Sophs for the Robertson shield, to be held on Wednesday. During the same hours the college rugby team will turn out for a good stiff practice. The activities for the forepart of the holiday, however, are not all that we are offering. Most everyone has planned on spending the afternoon in one or more of the several popular pastimes of the season. So far we have noted that rowing, hunting, golfing and motorizing parties are to be organized, which by the way should furnish some real pastime providing the weather man remains as kind as he has been the past few days. But this will comprise but a portion of the day's diversions.

A great many are spending, and others will spend, the day at home, relating many a thrilling tale of college life as she's found in Macdonald. Still others are planning little theatre parties in the village of Ste. Anne's, while others yet talk of tea, dinners, etc., until we wonder if anyone can be found in residence for at least some part of the day.

But, wait a minute! Don't rush off yet, thinking we are through with the celebration. Oh, no! The best part is yet to come, and as before hinted will comprise the dance given in the "gym" of the Girls' Residence during the evening. We are informed that everyone is to consider himself, or herself, fortunately and little do we doubt that when we hear it is to start early and the dances to be many and often, even lasting—we have a suspicion—until the wee small hours. So, let's be in the go, for the biggest holiday ever!

GIRLS PARTAKE ENJOYABLE FEED

Eats, Music and Stories comprise Week-End Celebration.

"At 7.30 this evening do come to — We'll both greet you gladly when you arrive. A feed-off 'yum yum'—will await you there; we'll have good things to eat, enough and to spare. A comb, cup and saucer, spoon, don't too, bring; we'll eat and be merry; do many a thing."

So read the invitations. Shortly after 7 a gentle tap was heard on door — (evidently someone could not wait the other half hour). The hostesses, both gowned in "evening dress," very graciously received their guests, who were likewise clad for the occasion. And now indeed things happened in rapid succession. By 7.30 all had arrived, bringing with them their bug-rags, viz., comb, cup and saucer, spoon, etc., etc. After a brief conversation on current topics, ranging from what kind of glue was used in tapoca to the latest fashion in boudoir caps, our attention was turned in another direction. Several girls well versed in the art of fortune-telling proceeded to make things gay, and judging by the facial expression of those whose fortunes were told, they were well pleased.

Several comb selections were then rendered to the keen appreciation of all. And now came the long awaited factor—EATS. This was followed by numerous other entertaining items, amongst which was the good old fashioned pastime of telling ghost stories in the dark, as well as several extremely well-rendered recitations.

Before leaving the banquet chamber each girl was presented with a pretty little souvenir, in the form of an autograph card, and now, after drinking a last up of hot cocoa, the party broke up.

Was there ever such a fed before? Will there ever be another such???

TABLE CHANGES IN DINING HALL

How Girls and Fellows Feel Over Their New Places.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new"

This was true not only in Tennyson's day, but at the present right here within the walls of Mac. It began with Mrs. Isen informing us that we were going to change places at table, in order that we might all become better acquainted. That night every student in the college was at the bulletin board endeavoring to scan the list posted there. "Where am I going to sit? Who else will be at my table?" These questions were uppermost in everyone's mind. At last all was settled; we were arranged at new tables with new faces opposite us. At first our appetites lagged (?) We missed the old faces at table but we soon got over this and we are very pleased to see that everybody seems to be happy as ever now, and in many cases more so.

Now let us hear the boys' side of the case. "Hello, Mac! What kind of a table are you at?" "A dandy, Jim! Gee there's a peach sitting beside me; I can hardly eat for looking at her. (Of course I make up when she goes out.) That's her over there." "Gosh, you're lucky." (Click, click goes Jim's brain as he schemes—"How can I cut him out?") Next meal sees a disconsolate Aggie wandering around the dining-room looking for a seat. (We regret that the character of his thoughts about another fellow whose name begins with J. do not render them fit for publication.) But despite these minor incidents the noise in the dining-room is as cheery and deafening as ever, and the food rolls its merry way down some three hundred cavernous throats.

We hope that Mrs. Isen's wishes will be complied with namely, that each student shall keep his or her own seat, and thereby prevent any inconvenience in the seating arrangement resulting in strict regulations. If we all do our part, as directed, college life will run much smoother to the enjoyment of all.

HOW TABLE 11 SAID GOOD BYE.

Who said Mac boys were not sports? Decidedly not the girls at table 11. Indeed they could never understand why some people wanted to change tables. Wouldn't an invitation to a chicken feed make anyone excited? Well, it did. The evening before the event passed happily discussing what to wear, etc., etc. They also drew for their partners, and each girl was pleased with what she drew. Why not? Their dinner consisted of everything from soup to nuts. And oh, boy! when these three chickens arrived! They were only sorry that to be on the grounds by six meant they couldn't hear more "after dinner stories" from the "first chapter of the New Testament." Alas! Table 11 is no more!

One of the earliest teachers appointed by the London School Board, Mr. J. Rouse, head master of New Park-road elementary school, Brixton-hill, retiring after 45 years' service, was one of 20 old teachers to whom the London Education Committee bade farewell.

It has been decided by the executive to enter three Varsity teams in different series. The "Varsity 1st" is in the Intercollegiate series with McGill, Queens and R.M.C. The Varsity 2nd's in the Senior and B.A. series, and the Varsity 3rd's in the Intermediate O.B.A. series.

Credits Must Be Established for Sale of Surplus Products.

Success of Victory Loan 1919 Will Insure Steady Markets for Farmers.

It takes some six bushels of wheat to feed the average person in Canada annually. Roughly, therefore, the eight million people here consume about 50,000,000 bushels each year. But even in a poor year the crop is some five times that amount, and the surplus must be sold if the farmers are to get a return for their time and labor. But the sale of the crop must be financed. Great Britain, which provides our greatest market, has not the ready cash; and so Canada must find means of raising the money. Hence the Victory Loan 1919. In view of the fact that the prosperity of the Dominion is dependent to a considerable extent upon the sale of her surplus grain the necessity of the money being forthcoming is patent.

R.V.C. NOTES

DR. SYMONDS' LECTURES.

The third and last of Dr. Symonds' lectures on "The Kingdom of God and its application to present world conditions" will be given in the R.V.C. common room, on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 3 p.m. The first two lectures dealt with the idea of the kingdom of God as found in the Old and New Testaments respectively. The third one will deal with the application of these ideas to-day. A good attendance is requested, and men students are cordially invited.

SOCIETE FRANCAISE.

The Societe Francaise is to hold a very interesting debate this Wednesday. The debaters for the affirmative—Ruth Shufford and Winifred Birkett—will endeavor to prove that curiosity is a feminine trait, while Doris Sharples and Dorothy McConnel will uphold the opposite. A debate on this subject cannot help but be fascinating, and should prove of interest to the whole college. Professor Walter, Professor Du Roure and Monsieur Villard have consented very kindly to act as judges.

There will be music and tea after the debate in the Common Room.

TWO DEBATES DELIVERED AT LIT. MEETING

certainly looks like a "steal." If the G.T.R. had gone into receivership, there would have been no harm done to the Canadian people. 1,500 miles of this government-controlled railway run through the United States. This will probably cause complications. The American Government can at any moment tie up the traffic on this line. Government ownership has never been a success.

Mr. Mirovitch, speaking for the affirmative, could see no connection between the soldiers' gratuities and the Grand Trunk. All that is necessary to make the Grand Trunk pay is a few branch lines North and South into unopened parts of Canada. Then the Government will pile up the wealth. The American lines in Canada have caused no complications.

Mr. Biggar maintained that the American lines in Canada were privately owned. This makes a tolerable situation. Under government control of railways rates invariably increase, service depreciates, politics are introduced into the administration of the line, employees are more careless. The G.T.R. offered a traffic agreement with the other Government railways whereby all the benefits of Government ownership would be obtained with none of its disadvantages. Why was this refused? The bill was rushed through, and the only railway in Canada, except the C.P.R., which is now paying its way in Canada, is now in the hands of bunglers and politicians. When the Government has ruined the railway, the C.N.R. interests will take over the good parts that are left, and let the rest decay. If the railway is going to be a success under Government ownership, it will be a greater success under private ownership.

Mr. McCaffrey, in his rebuttal, averred that the bill was given fair discussion in the House, because the Hon. Arthur Meighen had said that every question would be answered. He maintained that the Government-owned G.T.R. would furnish an ideally perfect railway system for Canada, connecting all hitherto neglected parts of the Dominion.

After short discussion by the audience, Mr. Hughson brought in his decision. He emphasized the importance of the "Lit." His verdict was based on a marking of 40 p.c. for the delivery and 60 p.c. for material.

The decision was awarded to the affirmative for better delivery, although the material of the negative was superior. The marking was distributed as follows:—McCaffrey 55, Cavanaugh 55, Mirovitch 55, Biggar 80.

A vote of the meeting on the subject, regardless of delivery, resulted in an overwhelming vote for the negative.

After a motion of thanks to the judge, the meeting adjourned.

Unlike the Law debate, the Arts debate was not well attended, but the interest shown for the subject under discussion was no less enthusiastic than that shown in the other meeting.

The subject debated was that of armed intervention in Russia by Great Britain. Franklin, the first speaker, maintained that such a necessity to the welfare of Great Britain as well as to that of Russia, for three reasons. These were: first moral, second economic, and third social. He argued that under those heads that we were morally bound to interfere in Russia because of the debt we owe that country for their part in the early phases of the war; that since Russia owes Great Britain a fortune in money, that the latter should protect her interests by armed intervention; that unless Bolshevism is strangled a home it will spread and finally be the ruin of the world and the British Empire.

The leader of the Negative, Laflamme, insisted that the reports of conditions in Russia were highly coloured, if not for the most part untrue. That is Britain assumed the role of dictator they would violate the principles of British institutions, and that they ought to follow the principle of free determination. He suggested that they send a broad wagon rather than a gun carriage.

The second speaker for the affirmative pointed out that a broad wagon would need protection, and that intervention would develop Russia's resources, so that she would not starve. Russia, he said, was a meeting place for German agents and intrigue of all sorts, and that a new German menace would soon face us if we did nothing to stop their work under such favourable conditions as now exist in that unfortunate country.

But the best speech of the evening was delivered by Adair. He first supported the arguments of his colleagues that conditions in Russia were not as they were painted, that the people could not, for instance, be dying of hunger, for that above all things drives a man to action, yet he pointed out there was no concerted uprising against the Bolsheviks. He claimed that to have proved their side the affirmative ought to have proved three things, namely, that conditions in Russia were so hopeless that intervention was absolutely necessary; that a moral obligation falls on Britain to interfere, that this obligation is so overwhelming that it is a duty. In a masterly way he proved that they had failed to do this, and in addition he convinced his audience that his assertions were logical and sound.

Franklin, in his rebuttal, insisted that conditions in Russia were all that they were reported, and again emphasized the importance of nipping Bolshevism in the bud.

Because no individual judge was present to render a decision, a vote was taken and the judgment was unanimously given to the negative.

Make Your Dreams Come True

Fond parents dream of a bright future for their children.

They dream of the literary and musical education they are going to give their daughter, and of the high position she will take in her sphere of womanhood.

They dream of the education they are going to give their son and vision him some day as a clergyman, a famous lawyer, an eminent physician, a prominent financier, or a captain of industry.

But to make these dreams come true

—or even partly true—requires foresight, planning and money.

To provide the money what plan so wise as to buy Victory Bonds for each child?

Thousands of parents bought Victory Bonds for their children in 1917 and 1918.

MACDONALD

BASEBALL

Last night saw the record game in baseball of Mac's Bush League series. Promptly at 6.45 the respective captains of the Ayrshires and the Patricia's tossed up for first at bat, the Patricia's winning the toss. Bradford, captain and pitcher for the Pats, was first man up. He knocked a two-bagger, and a little later was safe at home, thus giving the Pats an encouraging lead. Following Bradford's safe arrival Skin Thompson, our Freshman President, slid for home, followed in quick succession by Lachance, catcher, and Perry, centre fielder, thus making four runs, won the first innings. The Pats took the field with Heslop on third, three men having fanned in succession. The Ayrshires came up to the plate, one by one, but failed to score, the team returning to the field having failed to reduce the lead of the Ayrshires.

In the second, third and fourth innings the Pats failed to score, succumbing apparently to the relentless battery of Major Parker, jr. The Ayrshires in the second innings made the almost incredible score of seven runs, thus turning the tables in their own favor, the score standing 7-4 till the end of the fourth, when Peterson gave the Ayrshires a further lead. The Pats in the fifth brought the score up to 7-6 and Bradford again reached home in the last inning, the score standing finally 8-7 for the Pats. The lineup was as follows:

Pats.	Ayrshires.
Lachaine.....catcher.....	Parker
Bradford.....pitcher.....	Major

Thompson.....f.b.....	Peterson
Perry.....s.s.....	Asaaron

BOXING PRACTICE HELD YESTERDAY

Snappy Work-Out in Union
—Rapid Progress Is Being Made.

Owing to the postponement of the boxing practice last Friday a special meeting was held yesterday at 5.15 in the Union. The Club is rapidly getting down to a systematic basis, and should soon show great improvement in the finer parts of the science. Progress is already noticeable in the working of the different blows and counters. These are the fundamental parts of boxing, and too much attention cannot be paid to them at the start.

Last night the usual preliminaries were taken in blows and counters, the men being paired off according to weight. Mr. McBriarty also gave some instruction in footwork and put the squad through exercises in advancing and retreating and sidestepping. After a short rest the men lined up and took turns in short, snappy bouts, in which they tried to put into practice the instruction they had received. There were several very good bouts among the more experienced boxers, and the new men are already showing some promising material. Mr. McBriarty refereed the bouts and coached the fellows individually as far as was possible in such a large class.

There is an unprecedented amount of material to draw from this year, including a number of returned men who are old hands at the game. In view of this fact we should have no difficulty in getting a team which will do credit in the intercollegiate meet. All we now need, and this is essential, is the hearty co-operation of the members. This can be done by turning out regularly, and on time, and endeavouring to get as much out of the instruction as you can.

The next practice will be held on Wednesday at 5.15. All members are requested to bring their own towels.

HARRIERS GOING HARD AT VARSITY

To Send Strong Team For
Meet Here Saturday.

The Brotherton cross country cup race was run off at Rosedale Saturday morning for the first time since 1911. This race, which has always been a great attraction at Varsity, proved a greater success than ever. Although the course had been considerably lengthened, it did not dampen the enthusiasm of the different faculties, whose track teams were well represented. Trinity College had an entry list of 14, St. Michael's 21, S.P.S. 6, Wyolfre 6, Dent's 5, Meds. 2, Arts 2, and Knox 1, forming a total of 48, the second largest entry in the history of the race.

The cup itself was won by the Trinity team, who had six men in out of the first ten home. The St. Michael's team held second honours, and Trinity's second team third place.

The rugby cup for the winner of the race went to Leigh of Wyolfre, who had covered the six-mile course in 35 min. and 17 secs. Leigh was closely followed by Neylan (St. Mike's), and Bell (Meds.), and fourth place went to Davidson, a Trinity man. The Brotherton medal goes to Neylan, and the two Harrier silver medals to Bell and Davidson.

Leigh, Neylan, Bell, Davidson and Kelchum, the first men to finish, will represent Toronto Varsity at the meet at McGill next Saturday.

The times for the first ten men to finish are as follows:—

1. Leigh (Wyc.) .....	33.17 sec.
2. Neylan (St. Mike's) .....	36.33 "
3. Bell (Meds.) .....	36.46 "
4. Davidson (Trinity) .....	37.06 "
5. Kelchum (Trinity) .....	37.08 "
6. Adams (Meds.) .....	37.24 "
7. Mason (Trinity) .....	37.40 "
8. Cook (Trinity) .....	38.40 "
9. Wilson (Trinity) .....	38.55 "
10. Martin (Trinity) .....	39.22 "

MANDOLIN PLAYERS HAD BIG TURN-OUT

Practice Well Attended—Will Play Next Monday At
Western Club's Smoker.

Perhaps the best practice of the season of the Mandolin Club was held last night at Peate's studio. Many new pieces were tried and with very little practice were brought up to the standard of the old ones. The Club has been invited to play at the smoker of the Western Club. This function takes place at the Union on Monday next, at 8 p.m. All members of the Mandolin Club are requested to turn out for this, as the social event will take the place of the weekly practice.

The agricultural college at Guelph begins the fall term with a larger number of students than it ever had before.

Beaverton is endeavoring to form a joint stock company to build a $7,000 steel rink.

MONDAY NIGHT AT THE THEATRES

PRINCESS.

The show this week at the Princess was very good throughout, featuring several new and very original events. The usual Canadian United News followed the opening musical selection of the Princess Concert Orchestra.

The El Rey Sisters presented a charming event on roller skates and were highly pleasing to those present. "Bassy" Lillian Gonne and Bert Albert in "On Their Way to School" repeatedly provoked a laugh by their witty jokes.

An act telling of journeys of two gramophones from the magic store, till at last they were brought again together after much hard usage, was very good and original. The artists in this novelty were Eddie Barto and Florence Clark.

Ketter Mack and Anna Earl were also very witty, as were also Newhoff and Phelps in "Fragrant Tunes from the Garden of Melodies."

The Twelve Navassar Girls presented a very high class musical exhibition. The setting for the event was excellent in every respect.

Charles Brown presented a comic discourse, entitled "Pleasant Memories."

The Aerial Silverlakes brought the programme to a close.

HOLMAN.

Mabel Normand, supported by an exceedingly strong cast, in "Mickey," makes this week's entertainment at the Holman very striking. The film "Mickey" has drawn out huge crowds in other cities and should prove very popular here, not only because of the popularity of the song, but also because it must be admitted that it is one of the prettiest and most entertaining films that has yet been placed before the public.

Mickey is a little mountain girl whose father died while she was quite young. She is left in charge of a good-hearted, yet rough miner, a friend of her father's who brings her up a care-free but good daughter of the forest. By a change in situations, she is sent to live with her only surviving relatives in New York. As her aunt thinks she is exceedingly poor, she makes her work as a maid until she hears that her late father's mine has turned out to be a success. Then suddenly she becomes a lady of the house. Here she renews acquaintances with a young man she had met at her mine. He at once falls in love with her. For his sake she rides a horse to victory in a great racing adventure. She finally marries him and returns to her old home at the mine.

Mabel Normand's acting throughout the play was perfect, as well as that of the supporting cast, especially the Indian squaw who in reality brought her up and was the only mother she ever knew.

As an additional attraction, Mr. John T. Fiddes rendered the song "Mickey," and the audience joined enthusiastically in the chorus.

GAYETY.

The Gayety this week offers a clever musical comedy. Its most outstanding feature is the singing of Florence Darley and the work of the comedienne, "Chubby" Drisdale. The charming chorus and the work of the second comedian, Ray Read, are also special features of the performance, both of which are worthy of special merit.

The scenery is well above reproach, being far above the average in artisticness and effect; it harmonizes cleverly with the costumes and shows the players off to their best advantage.

The feature of the first act is the personality and singing of Florence Drisdale; she captivated her audience and proved a general favourite. The honours for the second act were divided, for all acted well, especially the comedienne, who kept the audience in good humour.

The show is well worth going to see, and is sure to provide interesting entertainment for anyone who has a spare afternoon or evening.

IMPERIAL.

The Imperial this week presents a very attractive programme. To those who have never seen the second of Chaplin's Million Dollar comedies entitled "Shoulder Arms," we drop them a hint to go now. It is a scream from beginning to end, showing the comedian king at his best. It would be useless to describe the comedy, but for any person desirous of disposing of the blues, we heartily recommend this picture. It is utterly devoid of vulgarity, and sets a standard for Chaplin's comedies.

The main feature picture presents Bessie Barriscale in "Her Purchase Price." The opening scene shows Miss Barriscale playing the role of a white slave in Cairo. When she was a baby she was captured by the leader of a band of desert pirates, and kept until he should place her upon the auction block.

Sir Derek Anstruthers, an English knight, travelling through Cairo, sees this girl. He arranges to meet her in her garden. While they are there, her master finds out about this man, and as a consequence he arranges to auction her next night. Sir Derek turns up and buys her. The remainder of the picture shows the hard time that she has as his wife in England. Critical situations appear as a result of

ORPHEUM.

"His Majesty Bunker Bean" is the attraction at the Orpheum Theatre this week. It is a laughable and well-arranged farce-comedy by Lec Wilson Dodd, dramatized from the novel by Harry Leon Wilson. The play is a very suitable one to be acted by a stock company, and affords the principal actors plenty of opportunity to display their talent.

The story deals with a certain young man, possessing the rather unfortunate name of Bunker Bean. Convinced that he is the reincarnation of some great monarch of early times, he falls into the hands of a couple of clever swindlers, "Countess Casanova" and "Balduzar the Mystic." The pseudo-spiritualists, by means of an intercepted letter, manage to rob him of the greater part of an unexpected legacy. In the meantime Bunker Bean has attracted the attention of his employer's daughter, Marie Breede, known as "the flapper." Aligned by her somewhat modern grandmother, she succeeds in making Bunker Bean propose. In spite of vehement protests by the outraged parents, they effect a runaway-marriage and all ends well.

Both the acting and the staging is of a very pleasing character. Among a very efficient cast, Miss Margaret Knight as Marie Breede, Mr. Smythe Wallace as Bunker Bean, and Charles Andre as "pops" are especially to be commended.

BATTLE OF CHRYSTLER'S FARM

On November 11, 1813, the British won a decisive victory over the American army at Chrysler's Farm when Colonel Morrison attacked and defeated two armies of Americans who were attempting to reach Montreal. The invaders had divided their forces, at the head of the Longue Sault Rapids, and marched on. Morrison saw that it was a splendid opportunity to strike. Had the two forces united the story of the conflict might read differently in Canadian history. It was a smart fight that took place on the 11th of November. The advantage went to the British, who, out of an army of 800 men, lost in killed and wounded about 130, while the Americans with 2,500 men, suffered casualties estimated at over 300 men with an additional 100 taken prisoners. The invaders were thus cut off from Montreal where they had hoped to be victors and to establish themselves for the winter. They were in consequence forced to retreat just as winter was coming on. Their line of march was harassed night and day by the British patrols and in this way over one hundred sleigh loads of war stores, chiefly food and munitions, fell into the hands of the British as prizes. This was in itself a great victory as the army of the King was none too well equipped for winter and the conflicts that the spring would certainly bring again. The biggest effect, however, was not in the prize stores or in the number of men slain or put out of action or even in the freeing of the Montreal district from the threat of the enemy for the winter. It was in the shaking of the morale of the foe who hitherto had deemed himself almost invincible and who held rather a supreme contempt for the small armies that were seeking to arrest his activities in the British domain. In even greater proportion it cheered the Royal forces and gave them greater confidence in the appeal to arms for 1814—destined to be the year of final victory.

An Appeal to the Shopping Public of Montreal

EVERY YEAR as the Christmas Shopping Season approaches the merchants of Montreal send out their annual appeal to their clients to shop early. The motive behind this is not entirely selfish. During the month of November the principal markets of the world are sending in to the Port of Montreal ship-loads of merchandise from London, Paris, Switzerland, New York, etc. The November shoppers, in addition to getting the pick of these beautiful goods, receive better service and quicker delivery. Therefore, we urge you in your own interests particularly and the merchants generally to SHOP EARLY, early in the month and early in the day.

The Wise Buyers this year will do their Christmas Shopping in November.

COMMERCIAL SOCIETY HAS BIG MEETING

Dean Moyse and Mr. Sugars
Address Students.

PAPER READ.

New Idea For Programmes
To Be Tried This Season.

The second general meeting of the Commercial Society was held last evening in the Union. The meeting was very largely attended, nearly the whole school of Commerce being present. The chairman brought the meeting to order at 8 p.m. and introduced the speakers for the evening.

Dean Moyse, the first speaker, opened his remarks by saying that Commerce was a distinct part of the University. He outlined the history of the School and on the difficulties experienced in putting it on a strong basis. When it was decided to put an experienced man in charge, Mr. Sugars was chosen. The School of Commerce provides a distinctly different course from an ordinary business college. The need for a University business course is felt a great deal more than previously, as the world is thinking differently to what it did in pre-war days. A topic such as the distribution of wealth is now placed before the public eye more than ever before.

The Dean then went on to say that the chief aim of the University was to turn out men capable of carrying out successfully whatever they might undertake. That the work be honest, is the basis of all personal success. The student with the trained mind can undertake anything, and although the subject may at first be alien to him, his trained mind can soon grasp the essential facts.

The Dean then closed his remarks by wishing all the students of the School of Commerce every success.

The next item on the programme was a paper by Mr. W. Shapiro on "The benefits of a College Commercial Training." This was a very excellent paper, and showed what a College Commercial Training at McGill could do.

Mr. Sugars, the next speaker of the evening, gave a short address, in which he promised to support the society and help it out whenever he could.

A new idea of a literary nature was discussed for the future programmes of the Society. This was to empower the chairman to call upon any member of the Society.

RETURNED MEN IN SCIENCE TO MEET

Discussion Of Plans and
Election Of Rep. For College Association.

A regular meeting of the Returned Men's Association of the Faculty of Applied Science will be held on Thursday, November 13th, in Room 33, of the Engineering Building.

The business of the meeting will be "the election of a representative to the Returned Men's Association of McGill."

During the last session the returned men of the Faculty of Applied Science formed an association. The object of the society is to promote a more intimate acquaintance between the returned men of the different classes.

Last Spring a smoker was held at the Union. The Returned Men's Society was invited and a successful evening resulted. The B. W. and F. Club gave generous assistance to the entertainment. This year the association intends to hold similar functions, and it is hoped that all returned men in Science will attend.

All undergraduate students in the Faculty of Applied Science who have seen active service, during the Great War, in any theatre of war either in the army or in the navy are eligible for membership. Those who have not enrolled are requested to do so at the next meeting, or if unable to attend they may give their names to Lawrence Mahaffy, the secretary of the Association. The membership fee is fifty cents per annum.

The society has the hearty support of the Faculty and has as its honorary president, Dr. J. B. Porter, who has done so much for the returned men in Science.

It is expected that all the returned men of Science will be present at this next meeting, as the policy and future activities of the association will be discussed.

N'FD'LANDERS MEET.

Sir George Foster May Speak
At First Meeting Of
Canadian Club.

One of the most interesting sidelights on the cosmopolitan spirit so evident at McGill this year, is to be found in the number of what might be called "territorial" clubs which are being formed, with the object of giving students who come from the same locality an opportunity of getting together on a common ground, regardless of the distinctions of faculty or class. Clubs have already sprung into existence formed from residents of such widely-separated points as Vancouver and Newfoundland, and no doubt there will be further additions to the number, in the near future. There is a perennial appeal to a man's "locality" in these clubs, restricted as it were, to "his own folk," but there are some who urge that their results are inimical to the feeling of unity in the student body and tend ultimately to the formation of numerous small sets or "cliques."

There is no reason why this should be so. It would, indeed, be difficult of proof that, because a man showed a natural tendency to fraternize with others from his own part of the world, he should for that reason be found guilty of disloyalty to, or disinterest in the welfare of the student body as a whole. On the contrary these clubs, if they properly fulfil their function should afford a meeting-place for students who might otherwise have no opportunity to meet with each other, and such intercourse of itself cannot fail to foster and encourage college spirit in the truest sense of the word.

Newfoundlanders' Club.

The meeting of Newfoundlanders was held last night for the purpose of approving of the Constitution proposed for their Club.

After an interesting discussion the Constitution was passed with several amendments and a committee appointed to submit it to the Students' Council for their approval.

The date of next meeting which will probably take place within a fortnight, will be announced as usual in the "Daily."

Maritime Club.

At a meeting of the Executive of the Maritime Club last night, it was decided to hold a Smoker on Thursday night, 13th, this week, at the Union, for the Maritime Club, at 9 o'clock.

An excellent programme is being arranged, and further particulars will be announced in a subsequent issue of the "Daily."

Canadian Club.

A tentative programme, calling for a meeting every two weeks, has been drawn up by the newly elected Executive of the Canadian Club. It is hoped that the speaker at the first meeting will be Sir George Foster, but it will be a week or so before definite announcement can be made with regard to the speakers and dates of meetings.

TWO DEBATES DELIVERED AT LIT. MEETING

Law and Arts Men Hold
Forth.

INTERESTED AUDIENCE

Live Topics Discussed By
Members Present—Augurs
Well For Future.

The second meeting of the "Lit." held last evening, was even a greater success than the last. Two separate debates were held in different rooms, one between Law '20 and Law '21, and the other between Arts '20 and Arts '21.

All the speakers of the evening showed high ability both in their logical arguments and in their polished delivery, and the arguments they advanced were followed with keen interest by both audiences. In each case much discussion followed the conclusion of the debates, and altogether the interest shown came up to the full expectations of the "Lit." executive.

The debate between Law '20 and Law '21 was held in the Assembly Hall. Farthing, the president of the "Lit.", presided. Mr. Hughson very kindly acted as judge. The question debated was, "Resolved that the purchase of the Grand Trunk Railway, as proposed by the Government of Canada, is in the best interests of the Canadian people." Messrs. McCaffrey and Mirovitch, Law '21, spoke for the affirmative. Messrs. Cavanaugh and Biggar handled the case for the negative.

Mr. McCaffrey, in introducing the subject, reviewed the history of the Grand Trunk Railway. He alluded to its having been laid down wrongly, and under difficulties. He gave a mass of figures to show that the Government would not lose by the deal. In twenty years, he said, a net-work of railways across Canada will divide control of transportation between the Government and C.P.R. He argued that there will be enough traffic for both. If the Government does not take over the G.T.R. all the money it has already paid out to the system will be lost.

Mr. Cavanaugh said that the G.T.R. deal may be a bargain, but a bargain at a time when the country cannot even afford a gratuity to its returned men is a luxury. Under government control still expenditure will be increased. The Union Government was elected to win the war, not to run railways! A bill crammed through at the last minute of a moribund parliament (Continued on page 3.)

THIRD TEAM WORK HARD AT STADIUM

Good Line-Up For Game At Macdonald Wednesday.

The Third team held a fast practice yesterday afternoon at the Stadium. Shag put the men through a fast signal drill for about half an hour and then gave them some new trick plays. The team is in good condition for its next game with Macdonald at St. Annes on Wednesday and for the championship game to be played in the near future. They will be without the services of Wilson and Jones who have gone to the Internates but have secured good men to fill their places. The probable line-up on Wednesday will be:—

Outside wings—Ballantyne and Brown. Middle wings—Armstrong and Mathewson (Capt.). Inside wings—Robinson and Mupro. Scrimmage—Johnson, Reid and Evans. Quarter—Quinlan. Halves—Hamilton, Salter and Falconer. Flying wing—Taylor. Spares—Maclean, Puddicombe and Davis.

MCGILL GRADUATE AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP.

Dean Moyse has just received the following item of news from Harvard which will be of interest to McGill men.

Mr. Ira Delworth, who graduated in 1915 at McGill with First Rank Honors, in English and French, has been awarded an Austin Scholarship of $300.00 by Harvard University, which he has recently entered for post-graduate work.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1919.
Well Done, Arts!

Yesterday the Victory Loan returns in the University showed a considerable increase, the Faculty of Arts having augmented their previous total by the large amount of $25,000, making $37,600 subscribed by them alone. Although the other Faculties do not come near this amount individually, almost $50,000 has been subscribed by the University as a whole up to date.
Such a satisfactory increase reflects great credit on the patriotism (to say nothing of the affluence) of Arts men, and it is significant as showing their evident appreciation of the expediency and urgency of helping to make the present loan as great a success as possible.
To anyone with the slightest knowledge of national finance or economics, it must be abundantly clear that, if Canada is to obtain and hold her rightful place in the world's markets, she must have at her disposal sufficient capital to enable her to grant large credits to her prospective customers, particularly the late belligerents, who now find themselves alike with empty store-houses and coffers. Canadian business men, realizing that Opportunity is assuredly knocking at Canada's door, have given their unqualified support to the loan, and these hold stoutly to their opinions that if the country will only take advantage of the favorable tide in her affairs, it will undoubtedly "lead on to fortune."
We are repeatedly being told that we are on the brink of a new era, both social and economic, an era, moreover, which will be fraught with the most momentous changes in the texture of our everyday life. Whether this be so or not it must be patent to all that Canada is confronted to-day with a wonderful chance to establish herself as one of the great commercial nations of the world. In such a case, not the least important of the elements to be benefited by an era of prosperity would be our educational institutions, for it is a matter of common experience, that commerce has ever been the foster-parent of the Arts and Sciences.
It is only fitting, then, that the great educational institutions, such as McGill should give a strong lead towards assuring the success of this loan. Not only does it show that the academic spirit of the country is entirely in accord with this praiseworthy attempt to establish Canadian trade and Canadian prestige, but in the final analysis it will be found that there exists a strong element of ultimate self-interest. If Canada's future is dependent upon the proper preparation and equipment of the generation which is to follow, no less will her material prosperity be responsible for the perfection and efficiency of her educational machinery. College men as a whole, therefore as representatives of higher education, should feel a particularly keen interest in the opportunity thus afforded, and we look forward with confidence to hearing of even larger contributions from McGill men towards this end.

INDOOR ATHLETICS
IN FULL SWING

Basketball and Baseball
Games Played in Bush
Leagues.

Macdonald is doing famously in her bush leagues. Basketball and baseball are now in full swing, and interest is at the highest point in the various games. A list of weirdly-named baseball nines was published last week. To-day it is our painful task to publish the perpetrations of a wit of unknown quantity. The varied range of these names leads us to believe that someone has a bright future in store for him. So here goes: — Night Hawks, Early Birds, Red Tops, Gingerbreads, Wild Cats, Tripe Hounds, Highballs, Cock-tails, Clovers, Alfalfa, Black Devils, White Elephants, Fusslers, Hugh-necks, Smooth Guys and Rough Necks. If the various teams possess the characteristic qualities suggested by these names, we may look for some lively times this winter.
For instance, when the Red Tops

played the Gingerbreads last night there were sparks galore flying around the gym. The peppy gingerbreads were right on the spot, and on time, but the glow necessary to heaten the Red Tops was lacking, and therefore only three of their men turned up. However, substitutes were provided and the two teams proceeded to prove the relative merits of russet vs. crimson. The game was indeed fast and furious, indeed more furious than fast. But, all things considered the game was a good one. It was characterized by many brilliant flashes of play, more fouls, and most poor combination. Indeed, aside from the fact that playing was wild, it was creditable to both teams. The teams were very well matched, keeping the issue in doubt up to the last minute. Sutherland for the Red Tops, and Bowen for the Gingerbreads, played the best game of the afternoon. Peterson was well fed by his teammates and scored most of the points for the Gingerbreads. The game was tied when only a minute was left to play; then Uncle Sutherland scored the winning basket for Red Tops. Final score, 15-13.
Baseball holds its own alongside Basketball in our fair college. The bus-league is burning its trail in the

MISTAKEN IDEAS.

Future Efficiency Depends
On All Round Development.

"O would some power the giffle gie us
To see ourselves as others see us,"
So said Robbie Burns a good many years ago, and the principle embodied in the words of the poet holds to-day as truly as it ever did. It is a very interesting and valuable exercise to observe the types of men and women with which we are surrounded; and it is equally valuable that we should learn the observations which are made about us by other people, for in ascertaining these opinions we may see wherein lies our strength or our weakness. Public opinion has always been, and still continues to be, one of the strongest forces in the varied interests and phases of this old life of ours; and we all to some extent bow to its dictates.
Macdonald College has its types, to one or another of which we all belong; and because these types exist we all have different ideas of the purpose and aim of a college course. To one type of student a college course means solely the accumulation of knowledge. He comes to college, and immediately sets to work to learn all there is to know about his particular branch of study in order that he may revolutionize that phase of learning or endeavor. The morning sees him at his books; the afternoon and evening witness his unceasing toil; and only sleep sees a temporary cessation of the struggle. He eats and sleeps and at these periods receives grudging relaxation; but in between is the same old grind—day in, day out, from one month to another. He sees nothing beyond the cramped wall of his own individual aim. To him the various college activities mean nothing; he views them from afar off as matters that do not concern him at all. Ask him to write an article for the "Daily"—"No; I haven't the time." Ask him to take part in some form of athletics—"I don't see any use in such waste of energy," etc., etc. We have all come in contact with this type. He keeps this up for four years and graduates a ball of knowledge so wrapped up in himself that he is about as approachable as the proverbial porcupine.
The student of this type makes his first big mistake in the erroneous conception he has of a course at college. We have said that his idea is solely to accumulate knowledge. True, this is the main reason why most of us are here; but it should not be our only reason. The real aim of a college course is to train men for leadership in the several branches which they have chosen to study; and also to teach them to think for themselves. These ends can not be attained by a student if he envelops himself in his studies to the exclusion of all other considerations. He must take part in discussions with his fellow-students in order to broaden his views; and he must mix with them freely and take a part in activities common to all, so as to have a few of the angularities rubbed from his character. There are many means at his disposal to accomplish this "rounding off" process. He can develop the physical side of his being by participation in one or more of the many branches of athletics; he may develop his mind more fully by taking part in the activities of the Lit. or in contributing articles to the "Daily" or the Mag.; and he may develop the cultural side of his nature, among other means, by reading; and by intelligent observation of the beauties which surround him.
This is a feeble attempt at pointing out the great mistake of becoming a "grind." But so many fellows come to college and sink into a rut from which they find it almost impossible to extricate themselves, with the result that they leave college with a character only partially developed, and find themselves handicapped in later life from attaining the highest point of efficiency. How many "grinds" have we at Macdonald.

annals of fame. Carry on, Macdonald. It is very gratifying indeed to all interested in athletics to see such enthusiasm displayed. If this keeps up the cranks will have no cause to complain of lack of college spirit at Macdonald. So keep those fellows; here's luck to you.

CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY

A General Holiday Including
Big Dance at Night.

The Prince Little realized the joy he was bringing to us all when he asked that we be given a holiday. Girls longing to visit the city or home are eagerly availing themselves of this opportunity. Everywhere one hears the questions: "Are you going to the city on Tuesday?" "Yes, are you?" "No, I'm having some friends out here." True it is not long till Saturday when we will be free to do as we please, but then, what of the added charm in a week-day holiday? Is it not much sweeter to most of us to escape lectures for a whole day; to have Saturday twice in one week—as it were? If you say no, you either are not well acquainted with the feelings of most girls, or you are not human. Besides, with a dance looming in view, Tuesday night, this is a most opportune time for a holiday.
The lecture rooms Monday were gay with the bright smiles of girls dreamily thinking of Tuesday's holiday, Tuesday night's dance, and oblivious to everything else. They see the holiday in the right light and we're inclined to believe the lecturers are too. After all, a holiday is a holiday to everyone.
The big day will start with a splash of activity especially in the way of sports. During the morning the Juniors will have baseball and basketball practice in preparation for the big series with the Sophs for the Robertson shield, to be held on Wednesday. During the same hours the college rugby team will turn out for a good stiff practice. The activities for the forepart of the holiday, however, are not all that we are offering. Most everyone has planned on spending an afternoon in one or more of the several popular pastimes of the season. So far we have noted that rowing, hunting, golfing and motorizing parties are to be organized, which by the way should furnish some real pastime providing the weather man remains as kind as he has been the past few days. But this will comprise but a portion of the day's diversions.
A great many are spending, and others will spend, the day at home, relating many a thrilling tale of college life as she's found in Macdonald. Still others are planning little theatre parties in the village of Ste. Annes, while others yet talk of tea, dinners, etc., until we wonder if anyone can be found in residence for at least some part of the day.
But, wait a minute! Don't rush off yet, thinking we are through with the celebration. Oh, no! The best part is yet to come, and as before hinted will comprise the dance given in the "kym" of the Girls' Residence during the evening. We are informed that everyone is to consider himself, or herself, fortunately and little do we doubt that when we hear it is to start early and the dances to be many and often, even lasting—we have a suspicion—until the wee small hours. So, let's be in the go, for the biggest holiday ever!

GIRLS PARTAKE
ENJOYABLE FEED

Eats, Music and Stories Comprise Week-End Celebration.

"At 7.30 this evening do come to —
We'll both greet you gladly when you arrive. A feed—oh! yum yum—will await you there; we'll have good things to eat, enough and to spare. A comb, cup and saucer, spoon, and cell too, bring; we'll eat and be merry, do many a thing."
So read the invitations. Shortly after 7 a gentle tap was heard on door — (evidently someone could not wait the other half hour). The hostesses, both gowned in "evening dress," very graciously received their guests, who were likewise clad for the occasion. And now indeed things happened in rapid succession. By 7.30 all had arrived, bringing with them their bug-gage, viz., comb, cup and saucer, spoon, etc., etc. After a brief conversation on current topics, ranging from what kind of glue was used in tape to the latest fashion in bouffant caps, our attention was turned in another direction. Several girls well versed in the art of fortune-telling proceeded to make things gay, and judging by the facial expression of those whose fortunes were told, they were well pleased.
Several comb selections were then rendered to the keen appreciation of all. And now came the long awaited factor—EATS. This was followed by numerous other entertaining items, amongst which was the good old fashioned pastime of telling ghost stories in the dark, as well as several extremely well-rendered recitations.
Before leaving the banquet chamber each girl was presented with a pretty little souvenir, in the form of an autograph card, and now, after drinking a last up of hot cocoa, the party broke up.
Was there ever such a fed before?
Will there ever be another such?!

TABLE CHANGES IN DINING HALL

How Girls and Fellows Feel
Over Their New Places.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new"
This was true not only in Tennyson's day, but at the present right here within the walls of Mac. It began with Mrs. Isen informing us that we were going to change places at table, in order that we might all become better acquainted. That night every student in the college was at the bulletin board endeavoring to scan the list posted there. "Where am I going to sit? Who else will be at my table?" These questions were uppermost in everyone's mind. At last all was settled; we were arranged at new tables with new faces opposite us. At first our appetites lagged (?) We missed the old faces at table but we soon got over this and we were very pleased to see that everybody seems to be happy as ever now, and in many cases more so.
Now let us hear the boys' side of the case. "Hello, Mac! What kind of a table are you at?" "A dandy, Jim! Gee there's a peach sitting beside me; I can hardly eat for looking at her. (Of course I make up when she goes out.) That's her over there." "Gosh, you're lucky." (Click, click goes Jim's brain as he schemes—"How can I cut him out?") Next meal sees a disconsolate Aggie wandering around the dining-room looking for a seat. (We regret that the character of his thoughts about another fellow whose name begins with J. do not render them fit for publication.) But despite these minor incidents the noise in the dining-room is as cheery and deafening as ever, and the food rolls its merry way down some three hundred cavernous throats.
We hope that Mrs. Isen's wishes will be complied with namely, that each student shall keep his or her own seat, and thereby prevent any inconvenience in the seating arrangement resulting in strict regulations. If we all do our part, as directed, college life will run much smoother to the enjoyment of all.

HOW TABLE 11 SAID GOOD BYE.

Who said Mac boys were not sports? Decidedly not the girls at table 11. Indeed they could never understand why some people wanted to change tables. Wouldn't an invitation to a chicken feed make anyone excited? Well, it did. The evening before the event passed happily discussing what to wear, etc., etc. They also drew for their partners, and each girl was pleased with what she drew. Why not? Their dinner consisted of everything from soup to nuts. And oh, boy! when these three chickens arrived! They were only sorry that to be on the grounds by six meant they couldn't hear more "after dinner stories" from the "first chapter of the New Testament." Alas! Table 11 is no more!

One of the earliest teachers appointed by the London School Board, Mr. J. Rouse, head master of New Park-road elementary school, Brixton-hill, retiring after 45 years' service, was one of 20 old teachers to whom the London Education Committee bade farewell.

Some new music is expected to be on hand. Now is the time for every man who has not already done so to identify himself with the Orchestra.

BASKETBALL.

There will be a meeting of the executive of the Basketball Club this evening at 5.15, in the Union. The following men are requested to be present: R. Foss, S. Davis, W. Laishly, L. Kern, Perrault. Important business to be discussed.

POLO PRACTICE.

All the regular water polo men are expected to attend the practice to-night at 5 p.m., in the Central "Y" Bath. This practice is an important one, as the Wednesday game is at hand.

ED. NOTE.

ATTENTION TO JUNIORS.

Arrangements have been concluded with Notman's for the taking of photographs. The sooner men have their pictures taken for insertion in the Annual the better. It is advisable that all go down as soon as possible.

VARSITY BASKETBALL PLANS.

Toronto has started the basketball season already, and several stiff workouts have been held, with Gillay, a former Varsity star, coaching the players. It has been decided by the executive to enter three Varsity teams in different series. The "Varsity 1st's" in the Intercollegiate series with McGill, Queens and R.M.C. The Varsity 2nd's in the Senior and B.A. series, and the Varsity 3rd's in the Intermediate O.B.A. series.

Credits Must Be Established for Sale of Surplus Products.

Success of Victory Loan 1919 Will Insure Steady Markets for Farmers.

It takes some six bushels of wheat to feed the average person in Canada annually. Roughly, therefore, the eight million people here consume about 50,000,000 bushels each year. But even in a poor year the crop is some five times that amount, and the surplus must be sold if the farmers are to get a return for their time and labor. But the sale of the crop must be financed. Great Britain, which provides our greatest market, has not the ready cash; and so Canada must find means of raising the money. Hence the Victory Loan 1919. In view of the fact that the prosperity of the Dominion is dependent to a considerable extent upon the sale of her surplus grain the necessity of the money being forthcoming is patent.

R.V.C. NOTES

R. V. C. '22.

There will be a class meeting to-day at 1.00 o'clock, in the Latin Room.

R. V. C. '21.

There will be a basketball practice on Wednesday, at 5 p.m. sharp. As the interclass games are beginning very soon, it is absolutely necessary that every girl turn out.

R. V. C. UNDERGRADUATES.

Your attention is drawn to the notice in the R.V.C. concerning Victory Bonds. If you have already bought a bond through an outside source please let the President of your year know, as the amount will be added to that subscribed through the College.

DR. SYMONDS' LECTURES.

The third and last of Dr. Symonds' lectures on "The Kingdom of God and its application to present world conditions" will be given in the R.V.C. common room, on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 3 p.m. The first two lectures dealt with the idea of the kingdom of God as found in the Old and New Testaments respectively. The third one will deal with the application of these ideas to-day. A good attendance is requested, and men students are cordially invited.

SOCIETE FRANCAISE.

The Societe Francaise is to hold a very interesting debate this Wednesday. The debaters for the affirmative—Ruth Shattford and Winifred Birkett—will endeavor to prove that curiosity is a feminine trait, while Doris Sharples and Dorothy McConnel will uphold the opposite. A debate on this subject cannot help but be fascinating, and should prove of interest to the whole college. Professor Walter, Professor Du Roure and Monsieur Villard have consented very kindly to act as judges.

There will be music and tea after the debate in the Common Room.

TWO DEBATES DELIVERED AT LIT. MEETING

certainly looks like a 'steal.' If the G.T.R. had gone into receivership, there would have been no harm done to the Canadian people. 1,500 miles of this government-controlled railway run through the United States. This will probably cause complications. The American Government can at any moment tie up the traffic on this line. Government ownership has never been a success.

Mr. Mirovitch, speaking for the affirmative, could see no connection between the soldiers' gratuities and the Grand Trunk. All that is necessary to make the Grand Trunk pay is a few branch lines North and South into unopened parts of Canada. Then the Government will pile up the wealth. The American lines in Canada have caused no complications.

Mr. Biggar maintained that the American lines in Canada were privately owned. This makes a tolerable situation. Under government control of railways rates invariably increase, service depreciates, politics are introduced into the administration of the line, employees are more careless. The G.T.R. offered a traffic agreement with the other Government railways whereby all the benefits of Government ownership would be obtained with none of its disadvantages. Why was this refused? The bill was rushed through, and the only railway in Canada, except the C.P.R., which is now paying its way in Canada, is now in the hands of bunglers and politicians. When the Government has ruined the railway, the C.N.R. interests will take over the good parts that are left, and let the rest decay. If the railway is going to be a success under Government ownership, it will be a greater success under private ownership.

Mr. McCaffrey, in his rebuttal, averred that the bill was given fair discussion in the House, because the Hon. Arthur Meighen had said that every question would be answered. He maintained that the Government-owned G.T.R. would furnish an ideally perfect railway system for Canada, connecting all hitherto neglected parts of the Dominion.

After short discussion by the audience, Mr. Hugheson brought in his decision. He emphasized the importance of the "Lit." His verdict was based on a marking of 40 p.c. for the delivery and 60 p.c. for material.

The decision was awarded to the affirmative for better delivery, although the material of the negative was superior. The marking was distributed as follows:—McCaffrey 55, Cavanaugh 55, Mirovitch 55, Biggar 50.

A vote of the meeting on the subject, regardless of delivery, resulted in an overwhelming vote for the negative.

After a motion of thanks to the judge, the meeting adjourned.

Unlike the Law debate, the Arts debate was not well attended, but the interest shown for the subject under discussion was no less enthusiastic than that shown in the other meeting. The subject debated was that of armed intervention in Russia by Great Britain. Franklin, the first speaker, maintained that such a necessity to the welfare of Great Britain as well as to that of Russia, for three reasons. These were: first moral, second eco-

Make Your Dreams Come True

Fond parents dream of a bright future for their children.

They dream of the literary and musical education they are going to give their daughter, and of the high position she will take in her sphere of womanhood.

They dream of the education they are going to give their son and vision him some day as a clergyman, a famous lawyer, an eminent physician, a prominent financier, or a captain of industry.

But to make these dreams come true

—or even partly true—requires foresight, planning and money.

To provide the money what plan so wise as to buy Victory Bonds for each child?

Thousands of parents bought Victory Bonds for their children in 1917 and 1918.

Surely you will be among the thousands of loving parents who will buy Victory Bonds for their children—this year?

Victory Bonds may be bought on instalments at such easy terms that every parent who so wishes may buy

MACDONALD

BASEBALL

Last night saw the record game in baseball of Mac's Bush League series. Promptly at 6.45 the respective captains of the Ayrshires and the Patricia's tossed up for first at bat, the Patricia's winning the toss. Bradford, captain and pitcher for the Pats, was first man up. He knocked a two-bagger, and a little later was safe at home, thus giving the Pats an encouraging lead. Following Bradford's safe arrival Skin Thompson, our Freshman President, slid for home, followed in quick succession by Lachance, catcher, and Perry, centre fielder, thus making four runs, won the first innings. The Pats took the field with Heslop on third, three men having fanned in succession. The Ayrshires came up to the plate, one by one, but failed to score, the team returning to the field having failed to reduce the lead of the Ayrshires. In the second, third and fourth innings the Pats failed to score, succumbing apparently to the relentless battery of Major Parker, Jr. The Ayrshires in the second innings made the almost incredible score of seven runs, thus turning the tables in their own favor, the score standing 7-4 till the end of the fourth, when Peterson gave the Ayrshires a further lead. The Pats in the fifth brought the score up to 6-6 and Bradford again reached home in the last inning, the score standing finally 8-7 for the Pats. The line-up was as follows:

Pats.	Ayrshires.
Lachaine.....catcher.....	Parker

Thompson.....f.b.....	Peterson
Perry.....s.s.....	Asaaron

BOXING PRACTICE HELD YESTERDAY

Snappy Work-Out in Union
—Rapid Progress Is Being Made.

Owing to the postponement of the boxing practice last Friday a special meeting was held yesterday at 5.15 in the Union. The Club is rapidly getting down to a systematic basis, and should soon show great improvement in the finer parts of the science. Progress is already noticeable in the working of the different blows and counters. These are the fundamentals parts of boxing, and too much attention cannot be paid to them at the start.

Last night the usual preliminaries were taken in blows and counters, the men being paired off according to weight. Mr. McBriarty also gave some instruction in footwork and put the squad through exercises in advancing and retreating and sidestepping.

After a short rest the men lined up and took turns in short, snappy bouts, in which they tried to put into practice the instruction they had received. There were several very good bouts among the more experienced boxers, and the new men are already showing some promising material. Mr. McBriarty refereed the bouts and coached the fellows individually as far as was possible in such a large class.

There is an unprecedented amount of material to draw from this year, including a number of returned men who are old hands at the game. In view of this fact we should have no difficulty in getting a team which will do credit in the intercollegiate meet. All we now need, and this is essential, is the hearty co-operation of the members. This can be done by turning out regularly, and on time, and endeavouring to get as much out of the instruction as you can.

The next practice will be held on Wednesday at 5.15. All members are requested to bring their own towels.

HARRIERS GOING HARD AT VARSITY

To Send Strong Team For
Meet Here Saturday.

The Brotherton cross country cup race was run off at Rosedale Saturday morning for the first time since 1911. This race, which has always been a great attraction at Varsity, proved a greater success than ever. Although the course had been considerably lengthened, it did not dampen the enthusiasm of the different faculties, whose track teams were well represented. Trinity College had an entry list of 14, St. Michael's 11, S.P.S. 6, Wycliffe 6, Dent's 5, Meda 2, Arts 3, and Knox 1, forming a total of 48, the second largest entry in the history of the race.

The cup itself was won by the Trinity team, who had six men in out of the first ten home. The St. Michael's team held second honours, and Trinity's second team third place.

The rugby cup for the winner of the race went to Leigh of Wycliffe, who had covered the six-mile course in 37 min. and 17 secs. Leigh was closely followed by Neylan (St. Mike's), and Bell (Meda), and fourth place went to Davidson, a Trinity man. The Brotherton medal goes to Neylan, and the two Harrier silver medals to Bell and Davidson.

Leigh, Neylan, Bell, Davidson and Ketchum, the first men to finish, will represent Toronto Varsity at the meet at McGill next Saturday.

The times for the first ten men to finish are as follows:—

1. Leigh (Wyc.) .....33.17 sec.
2. Neylan (St. Mike's) .....26.32 "
3. Bell (Meda.) .....26.46 "
4. Davidson (Trinity) .....37.06 "
5. Ketchum (Trinity) .....37.08 "
6. Adams (Meda.) .....37.24 "
7. Mason (Trinity) .....37.40 "
8. Cook (Trinity) .....38.40 "
9. Wilson (Trinity) .....38.55 "
10. Martin (Trinity) .....39.22 "

MANDOLIN PLAYERS HAD BIG TURN-OUT

Practice Well Attended—Will
Play Next Monday At
Western Club's Smoker.

Perhaps the best practice of the season of the Mandolin Club was held last night at Peate's studio. Many new pieces were tried and with very little practice were brought up to the standard of the old ones. The Club has been invited to play at the smoker of the Western Club. This function takes place at the Union on Monday next, at 8 p.m. All members of the Mandolin Club are requested to turn out for this, as the social event will take the place of the weekly practice.

MONDAY NIGHT AT THE THEATRES

PRINCESS.

The show this week at the Princess was very good throughout, featuring several new and very original events. The usual Canadian United News followed the opening musical selection of the Princess Concert Orchestra.

The El Rey Sisters presented a charming event on roller skates and were highly pleasing to those present. "Sassy" Lillian Gonne and Bert Albert in "On Their Way to School" repeatedly provoked a laugh by their witty jokes.

An act telling of journeys of two gramophones from the music store, till at last they were brought again together after much hard usage, was very good and original. The artists in this novelty were Eddie Barto and Florence Clark.

Keller Mack and Anna Earl were also very witty, as were also Newhoff and Phelps in "Fragrant Tunes from the Garden of Melodies."

The Twelve Navassar Girls presented a very high class musical exhibition. The setting for the event was excellent in every respect.

Charles Brown presented a comic discourse, entitled "Pleasant Memories."

The Aerial Silverlakes brought the programme to a close.

HOLMAN.

Mabel Normand, supported by an exceedingly strong cast, in "Mickey," makes this week's entertainment at the Holman very striking. The film "Mickey" has drawn out huge crowds in other cities and should prove very popular here, not only because of the popularity of the song, but also because it must be admitted that it is one of the prettiest and most entertaining films that has yet been placed before the public.

Mickey is a little mountain girl whose father died while she was quite young. She is left in charge of a good-hearted, yet rough miner, a friend of her father's who brings her up a care-free but good daughter of the forest. By a change in situations, she is sent to live with her only surviving relatives in New York. As her aunt thinks she is exceedingly poor, she makes her work as a maid until she hears that her late father's mine has turned out to be a success. Then suddenly she becomes a lady of the house. Here she renews acquaintances with a young man she had met at her mine. He at once falls in love with her. For his sake she rides a horse to victory in a great racing adventure. She finally marries him and returns to her old home at the mine.

Mabel Normand's acting throughout the play was perfect, as well as that of the supporting cast, especially the Indian squaw who in reality brought her up and was the only mother she ever knew.

As an additional attraction, Mr. John T. Fiddes rendered the song "Mickey," and the audience joined enthusiastically in the chorus.

GAYETY.

The Gayety this week offers a clever musical comedy. Its most outstanding feature is the singing of Florence Dreyer and the work of the comedienne, "Chubby" Drisdale. The charming chorus and the work of the second comedienne, Ray Read, are also special features of the performance, both of which are worthy of special merit.

The scenery is well above reproach, being far above the average in artisticness and effect; it harmonizes cleverly with the costumes and shows the players off to their best advantage.

The feature of the first act is the personality and singing of Florence Drisdale; she captivated her audience and proved a general favourite. The honours for the second act were divided, for all acted well, especially the comedienne, who kept the audience in good humour.

The show is well worth going to see, and is sure to provide interesting entertainment for anyone who has a spare afternoon or evening.

IMPERIAL.

The Imperial this week presents a very attractive programme. To those who have never seen the second of Chaplin's Million Dollar comedies entitled "Shoulder Arms," we drop them a hint to go now. It is a scream from beginning to end, showing the comedian king at his best. It would be useless to describe the comedy, but for any person desirous of disposing of the blues, we heartily recommend this picture. It is utterly devoid of vulgarity, and sets a standard for Chaplin's comedies. The main feature picture presents Bessie Barriscale in "Her Purchase Price." The opening scene shows Miss Barriscale playing the role of a white slave in Cairo. When she was a baby she was captured by the leader of a band of desert pirates, and kept until he should place her upon the auction block.

Sir Derek Anstruthers, an English knight, travelling through Cairo, sees this girl. He arranges to meet her in her garden. While they are there, her master finds out about this man, and as a consequence he arranges to auction her next night. Sir Derek turns up and buys her. The remainder of the picture shows the hard time that she has as his wife in England. Original situations appears as a result of their marriage.

The plot of the picture is a very clever photoplay, showing the winsome child in an interesting story. Such pictures as these merit more praise than a pile and gain comedy, which has been eliminated this week. A British Canadian News and Victory Loan Appeal complete a bill which is one of the ordinary, and which possesses vaudeville numbers of the best type.

ORPHEUM.

"His Majesty Bunker Bean" is the attraction at the Orpheum Theatre this week. It is a laughable and well-arranged farce-comedy by Les Wilson Dodd, dramatized from the novel by Harry Leon Wilson. The play is a very suitable one to be acted by a stock company, and affords the principal actors plenty of opportunity to display their talent.

The story deals with a certain young man, possessing the rather unfortunate name of Bunker Bean. Convinced that he is the reincarnation of some great monarch of early times, he falls into the hands of a couple of clever swindlers, "Countess Cazanova" and "Baldassar the Mystic." The pseudo-spiritualists, by means of an intercepted letter, manage to rob him of the great part of an unexpected legacy. In the meantime Bunker Bean has attracted the attention of his employer's daughter, Marie Breede, known as "the flapper." Aided by her somewhat modern grandmother, she succeeds in making Bunker Bean propose. In spite of vehement protests by the outraged parents, they effect a runaway-marriage and all ends well.

Both the acting and the staging is of a very pleasing character. Among a very efficient cast, Miss Margaret Knight as Marie Breede, Mr. Smythe Wallace as Bunker Bean, and Charles Andre as "pops" are especially to be commended.

BATTLE OF CHRYSTLER'S FARM

On November 11, 1813, the British won a decisive victory over the American army at Chrysler's Farm when Colonel Morrison attacked and defeated two armies of Americans who were attempting to reach Montreal. The invaders had divided their forces, at the head of the Longue Sault Rapids, and marched on. Morrison saw that it was a splendid opportunity to strike. Had the two forces united the story of the conflict might read differently in Canadian history. It was a smart fight that took place on the 11th of November. The advantage went to the British, who, out of an army of 800 men, lost in killed and wounded about 180, while the Americans with 2,500 men, suffered casualties estimated at over 300 men with an additional 100 taken prisoners. The invaders were thus cut off from Montreal where they had hoped to be victors and to establish themselves for the winter. They were in consequence forced to retreat just as winter was coming on. Their line of march was harassed night and day by the British patrols and in this way over one hundred sleigh loads of war stores, chiefly food and munitions, fell into the hands of the British as prizes. This was in itself a great victory as the army of the King was none too well equipped for winter and the conflicts that the spring would certainly bring again. The biggest effect, however, was not in the prize stores or in the number of men slain or put out of action or even in the freeing of the Montreal district from the threat of the enemy for the winter. It was in the shaking of the morale of the foe who hitherto had deemed himself almost invincible and who held rather a supreme contempt for the small armies that were seeking to arrest his activities in the British domain. In even greater proportion it cheered the Royal forces and gave them greater confidence in the appeal to arms for 1814—destined to be the year of final victory.
